Since 2003 the ivf Quenchotest is replaced by the ivf SmartQuench equipment. Swerea IVF AB has an agreement with Heattec Värmebehandling AB, called Heattec, saying that Heattec is responsible for all activities concerning the ivf quenchotest.

As long as nothing else is announced, spare parts for the ivf Quenchotest can still be purchased. If you have such requests, please contact Heattec directly.

You will find Heattec through the following contact:
